VICTORIA, BC, July 2, 2006—ICA FolkFest celebrates culture through a variety of mediums. The International Food Village at the Inner Harbour site and the food kiosks at Centennial Square offer a once-a-year chance to sample foods from countries around the world, including Mexico, Ethiopia, Hungary, Nepal and Greece.

Hungry office workers in Victoria's downtown core can visit FolkFest for free between 11am and 2:30pm on business days (Tuesday, July 4 – Friday, July 7) in order to add a little variety and international flair to their lunch hour.

The 33rd annual ICA FolkFest runs from June 30 – July 9. The urban arts festival features over 250 performances on four stages over 10 days.

FolkFest is presented by the Inter-Cultural Association of Greater Victoria and produced by TNT Productions.
